If homelessness isn't seen, people may think it doesn't exist. But what we know is that homelessness is a community issue that requires a community solution. That's why we need you. Each person experiencing homelessness is unique. Our goal is to help our guests on every level, from physical to psychological to spiritual. Guests at St. John's, The Micah Center and Wellspring represent all of us...

- A woman fleeing domestic violence.
- A father who was laid off from his job.
- A veteran coping with PTSD.
- A son struggling with addiction.
- A mother struggling with past trauma or mental health issues.
- A youth who aged out of foster care with no family to call his own.

St. John's Homeless Shelter fills an essential role in Green Bay of serving approximately 400 individuals with emergency shelter, 800+ individuals with services at The Micah Center and 300+ women at Wellspring just this past year. We serve many of the most vulnerable people experiencing homelessness who do not qualify for other shelters and services.

Giving back is a value we share here in Green Bay. Donating to St. John's helps us to restore hope and walk alongside guests on their journey to self-sufficiency.
